CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL TULSA, OKLAHOMA

THE 1957 TOM TOM

SALUTES 50 YEARS OF OKLAHOMA

High noon, April 22, 1889! On this date began the celebrated "runs" which opened the state of Oklahoma to white settlement. One of the greatest of all openings was that of the Cherokee Strip, made September 16, 1893. Oklahoma actually came into statehood in 1907 by an act of President Theodore Roosevelt. No equal area upon which the sun shines has, during recorded history, made such rapid progress as has the State of Oklahoma during the first half of the twentieth century. Frontier conditions have gone forever, but the pioneer spirit will never die. This "Sooner Spirit" - one of youth, of daring, of optimism, of belief in one's self and in the future-has made such progress possible.

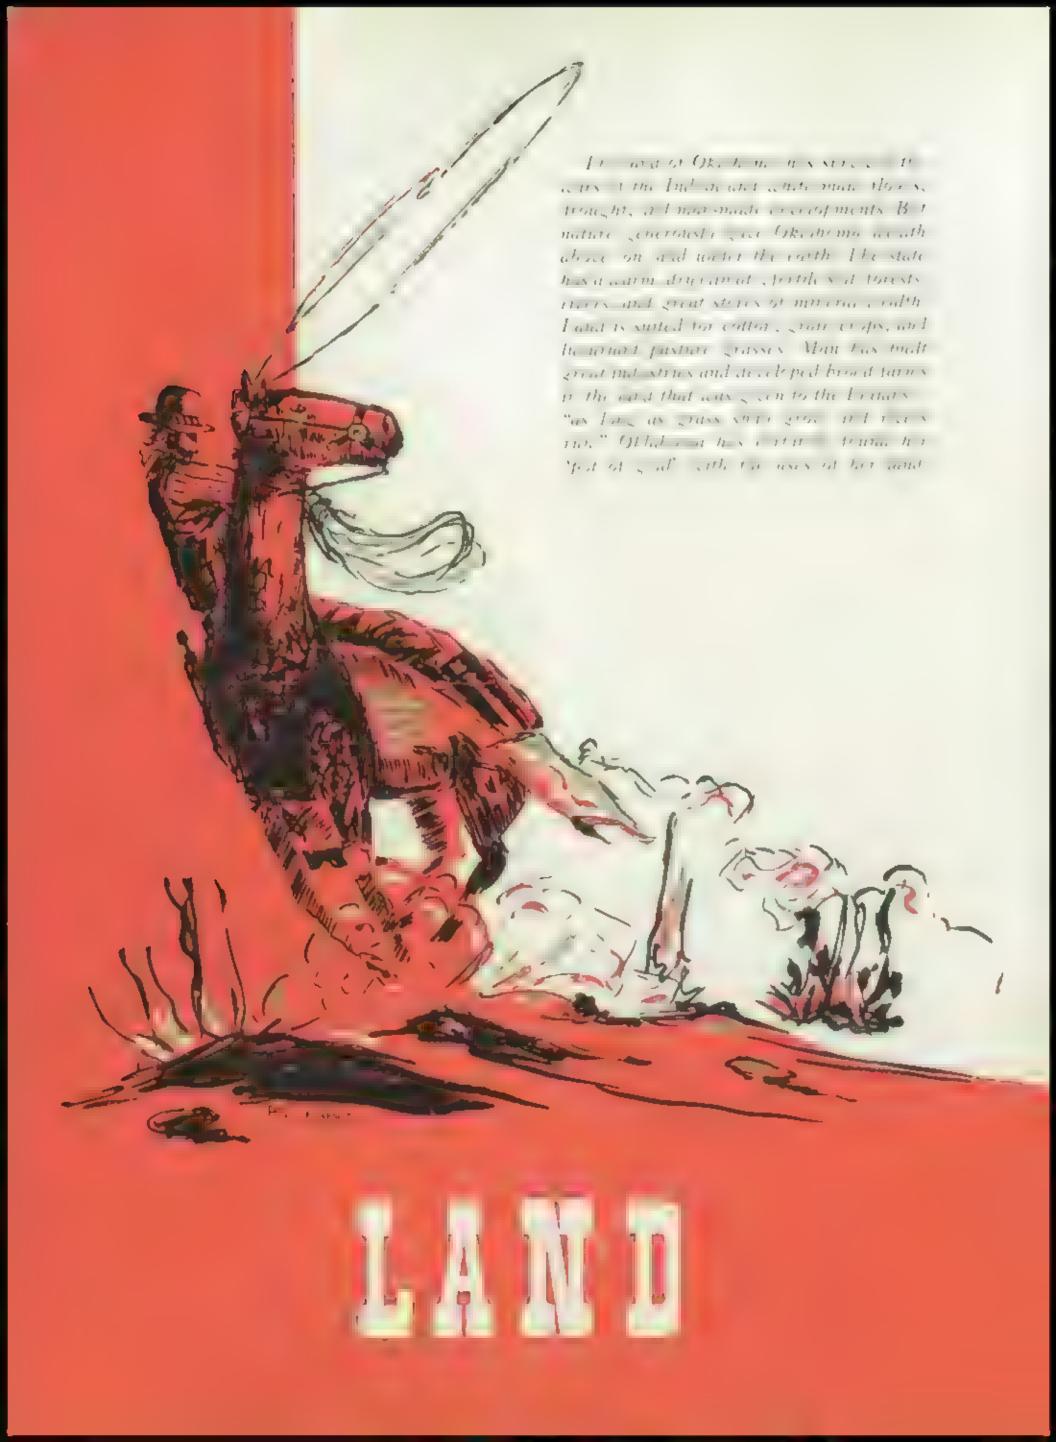

HISTORY

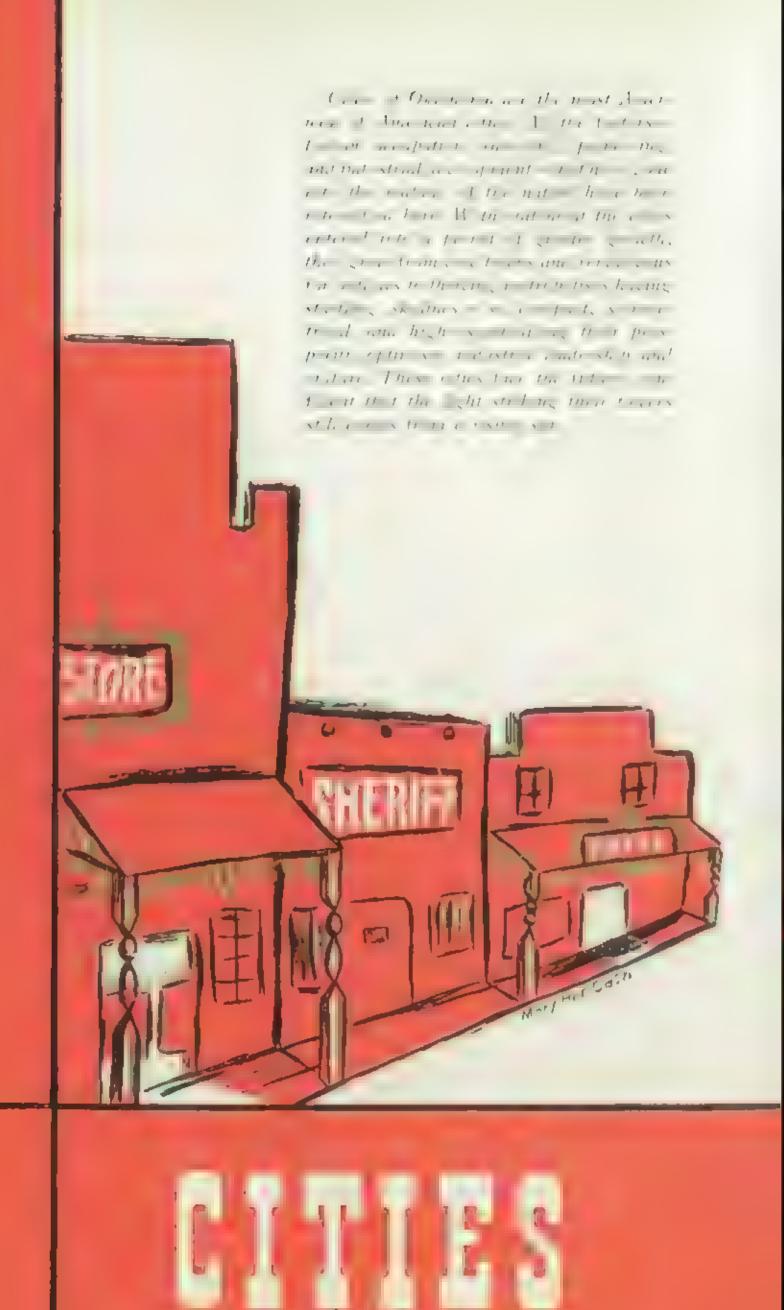

Oklahoma is after fifty years no longer a "land of the red man." Now people from all over the world live within the boundaries of the state. Oklahomans—laborers, teachers, doctors, lawyers, clergymen, businessmen, scientists, and scholars—all are the descendants of people from every part of the world. Every race, creed, and nationality is represented. The students of this state have a rich heritage to understand and to uphold. In free public schools the students of today learn to love their country and to govern it with wisdom and with brotherhood.

Seniors Maintain High Standards

The receiving of senior rings and the selection of Miss Central High XXXVI, Darlene Owens, and her senior attendants, Jane Cochran and Pat Jusola, highlighted the first of the year. Carol Williams, Darlene Owens, Romie McKinney, and Bill Ragan helped in winning the state cheerleading championship. For its final dramatic performance the class of 1957 presented George Bernard Shaw's popular play, Pygmalion. Every senior enjoyed the Christmas party held in the south auditorium. The most significant events of the year were Class Day, Vespers, Dinner-Dance, and Commencement. Seniors left Central with gratifying remembrances of hopes and ambitions.

Juniors Carry Away Many Honors

One of the highlights of the year culminated in choosing the standard ring for Central. Juniors, first wearers of the new sewelry, will receive rings before school closes. Victorious Kay Hettick, Jo Rita Miller, and Mary Ellison became attendants to the football queen. Central band members chose Nancy Bald win to reign as their queen. Making Sabrina Fair a big success, Mary Kate Denny. Bill Schooler, Mike Raynolds, and Mary Alice Koewing played the leading roles. Jo Rita Miller, Richard Conder, Cynthia Macnider, and Mike Ives helped the crack squad of cheerleaders win first place at the Norman clinic

Southern Association Holds Convention at Central

Moeting a morning train from the South, Susan Wilson, Bob Davis, Bob Blosch, and Sam Laycock great S.A.S.C. delegates from Florida

Under the student leadership of Larry Brvant, president; Bishy Langenkamp, vice-president; Susan Wilson, recording secretary; Nancy Peacock, corresponding secretary; Peggy Johnston, treasurer; Mary Baker, parliamentarian; and Avery Coryell, Bob Davis, Sn. ron Dotson, and Sue Rose, inter-school council representatives; the Student Council continued to be one of the busiest and most useful organizations in school. With its faculty sponsor, Miss Faye Laird, it has given opportunity for all interested students to voice opinions on school matters.

In the fall the Southern Association of Student Councils held its annual convention at Central Sar. Campbell, elected by Centralites, served as secretary treasurer of this convention. Students and faculty cooperated with the council in making this a meeting long to be remembered.

Bishy Langenkamp and Sara Campbell went to the national convention of student councils in Ohio during the summer. In February Larry Bryant, Sara Campbell, Peggy Johnston, and Nancy Peacock went to Bessemer, Alabama, to give suggestions and to help with the plans for the S.A.S.C. convention to be held there next year.

A committee headed by Sharon Dotson and Sue Rose prepared the copy for Hello Central. This directory lists all the students with their street addresses, telephone numbers, and classifications. The council also sponsored the annual Sophomore Mixer and a mixer after the Central-Rogers football game.

Council Arranges for Foreign Exchange Student

Mary Baker, on the right, a student hostess from Central, sees that the delegates to the SASC convention from Charleston West Vir gain have room reservations and programs

To add to the list of activities and services of the Student Council, a committee of members headed by Sara Campbell, worked long hours in following the necessary steps to get an exchange student for Central next year. Money for the project was earned by home room representatives selling Hello Centrals and book tovers

Other activities which benefited the whole school were selling cokes at the Daze, the opera, and school plays; offering Tom Tom covers for sale; helping with registration at the opening of school; sponsoring tours for new students; and polishing the school trophics

Another important project was electing the boyof-the-month. This honor was given each month to a senior boy who excelled in service to school, in scholastic achievement, and in citizenship. These awards, sponsored by the Exchange Club of Tulsa, were climaxed by the election of a boy-of-a-year, one of the highest honors received at Central.

The Student Council is the legislative body of the Student Association, composed of all students duly entalled at Central. The council membership is made up of creefed officers, one representative from each home room, and six members at large.

Meeting semi-monthly on Friday morning at 8:10, the council was one of the most influential organizations in school. Although it had many important functions, still it did not forget its main purpose: to present a place for the American democratic processes to work

One of the most popular spots during the council convention was near the coke machine. To help the visiting delegates quench their thirst and to see that the machine was loaded and bottles were returned, student council members took charge Here Avery Coryell, one of the chairmen of the soft drinks committee, hands out cokes

Red Feathers Support Braves with Songs and Cheers

"Go, Central; go, Central; go! Go! Go!" is a familiar cry heard most Thursday mornings during home room as the members practiced old cheers and learned new ones taught by the cheerleaders. Many lively cheers urged the Braves onward at all sports events.

Cabinet members—Dottie Grubbs, president; Dorothy Mayhew, vice-president; Sandra Pugh, secretary; and Diane Kothe, treasurer — received valuable assistance from Miss Betty Dobbs, head sponsor; Mrs. Bessie Brown, in charge of points; Mrs. Shirley Dalton, in charge of squads; Miss Virginia Hembree, financial adviser; and Mrs. Celesta Jennett, in charge of the cheerleaders.

Members were divided into forty-eight squads, each headed by a squad leader. Every member worked hard to earn points for her squad. Winning squads for the football season, based on the highest percentage rate in attendance at the games, got their pictures in the Tom Tom.

Squad leaders and a best member from each squad wore red skirts and whate sweeters with big red Cs or them to football gimes. They formed a double line on the both all field through which the privers critered

Selling rooter caps, booster buttons, and pom poms helped finance the activities of Red Feathers. Red Feathers and Scalpers honored Queen Darlene Owens with a Coronation Ball in the boys' gym. All meetings, which were held on Thursday mornings in the north auditorium, and various other activities encouraged the furtherance of the Central spirit.

Vigorously Cheering, Scalpers Create School Spirit

Scalper members—Roy Bradley, Jerry Smotts and Eugene Overman—sell tickets to Sandra Doss for the Loyalty Night game with Muskogee Scalpers work to encourage large attendance

Enthusiastically cheering their way through another year, Scalpers supported the Braves in the seasons of football, basketball, and baseball. This club, the only pep organization for boys in the Tulsa high schools, was sponsored by Mr. Ernest McHugh and Mr Kenton Ross

All 350 members were used at the football games to make the big Central "C" in the cheering section. They helped Red Feathers with the sales of rooter caps, pom poms, and "Yea, Central" buttons

During the football season Scalpers met every Wednesday morning from 8:50 until 9:15 in the North Auditorium. When the football season was over, the boys met twice a month. Next year they tentatively plan to meet with Red Feathers, the girls' pep organization, at least once a month.

The members offered their services to usher at the Daze, Vespers, and the graduation ceremonies. Presiding over the club was Bill Dissiy, assisted by Terry Palmer, vice-president; Steve Wolfe, secretary; and Dave Roseborough, treasurer. The two student as sistants to the sponsors were Jim Ault and Charles Harney

Central was proud of cheerleaders Bill Ragan, Ronnie McKinney, Mike Ives, Richard Conder, Wyatt Snow, and Mike Seiler, who with the girls won top honors at the Oklahoma Cheerleading Clinic at Norman in October. Approximately 350 cheerleaders, representing 75 schools all over Oklahoma, attended the clinic

Students Assist School Librarian

"Where will I find information about Julius Caesar" This familiar question, or one similar, was asked frequently of the library as sistants. They had other duties besides answering questions and helping to find books for the students. Typing catalog cards, letters, and reports; mending, checking out, and preparing books for the bindery; and shelving and lettering books were just some of their many tasks.

Reviewers Encourage Good Reading

The Literary Reviewers, as the name implies, found entertainment in studying and analyzing books. Their main purpose was to encourage the reading of good books among all students by the reviewing of books by the members.

Literary Reviewers was under the direction of Miss Helen Hagler, librarian. The president of the organization was Jim Ault, assisted by Ernest Frye, vice-president; Freda Chandler, secretary - treasurer; and Judy Roark, reporter.

Girls' League Groups Promote Friendly Relations

Janet Staudt and Jackie Toney admire the newlypurchased television set which was given to the school by the combined Girls League groups

Girls' League was organized in 1935 with the purpose of promoting better relationships and unity among the members, helping others, and furthering the practices of good citizenship.

Presiding over Senior Girls' League was Pat Trower, assisted by Jackie Toney, vice-president, Mary Hazelton, secretary; and Janet Staudt, treasurer. Junior Girls' League was under the leadership of Sue Rose, president; Patty Felkel, vice-president; Lois Eby, secretary; and Floyanne Griffin, treasurer. The sophomores elected Judy Lawrence, president; Pat Kallenberger, vice-president; Sondra Wattenbarger, secretary; and Sue Curtis, treasurer. These officers were assisted in cabinet meetings by one representative from every homeroom. Together they planned the year's activities.

Every girl in Central was a member of Girls' League. The organization met once a month under the sponsorship of Mrs. Minnie Mac Summers. Prom ment speakers, films, and other forms of educational activities provided interesting and enjoyable meetings for the girls. In February Girls' League sponsored the style shows given by the home-making department.

An interest in state and national government was inspired when Janet Staudt and Jackie Toney told of their visit to Girls' State. Honor was brought to the organization when Janet Staudt won the Daughters of the American Revolution Award based on scholarship, citizenship, and leadership. She was chosen from a list of nine candidates.

Emotional and Social Stability Aim of Allied Youth

Members! Members! Members! That is the purpose of Clash Day in the fall. Entering into the contest are Nancy Fenton, Linda Johnston, Perry Thomas, Glenda Roof, and Joyce Schlichting

"Who will bid one dollar? Two dollars? Three-fifty? Going, a ung, and gone to the boy in the red shirt." Allied Youth did not offer auction lessons These strange statements were just for dates with the queen, the king, or their attendants to the annual carnival dance, sponsored by the Allied Youth

Growing up emotionally and socially, realizing better ways of overcoming tensions and social pressure than drinking alcoholic beverages, and helping other people who already have the drinking problem are the objectives that hold the members of Allied Youth to gether all over the nation

Providing educational films, engaging speakers, and helping with social activities were some of the duties of the officers—Bill Burton, president; Darlene Owens, vice-president; Nancy Clark, recording secretary; and Sharon McClure, corresponding secretary; and Raymond Bothell, treasurer. The sponsors were Mr. William C. Lantz, Mr. Clarence Ehlers, and Miss Rachel Blackburn

A group of ten members of Allied Youth—Colleen Ellington, Elvie Wells, Shirley Dunn, Wanda Wise, Leresa Wright, Morty Reynolds, Linda Eaton, Linda Turner, Pat Searcy, and Rosalind Rankin—journeved with Coach Ehlers in November to Buckhill Falls, Pennsylvania, for the international conference, where Elvie Wells won the office of vice-president in charge of projects and finances

Shortly after Christmas vacation a marathon dance was held in boys' gymnasium. Suzane Lifton and Pete Scott won first prize

Each year an Allied Youth committee collects pictures items from the official magazine, and pertinent newspaper articles of interest to members of Central's post. Looking over the scrapbook are the officers—Raymond Bothell, Nancy Clark Bill Burton, Sharon McClure and Darlene Owens

Tri-Hi-Y Delegates Take Over State Government

Leaving for Youth in Government at Oklahoma City are the representatives Jonnifer Curtis, Mary Lindsey, Ada Jackson, and Sandra Beach.

"There are girls in the lobby of the Y.M.C.A.! How did they get in here? Can't a man have some privacy?" This excited remark came from a boy who happened to see girls gathering for a Tri-Hi-Y meeting on a Tuesday night. To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school, home, and community high standards of Christian character was the purpose of the club

The sponsors, Miss Barbara Offutt, and her assistant, Miss Fannie Sue Jackson, and the officers—Sandra Beach, president; Ginger Highfill, vice-president; Jennifer Curtis, secretary; Mary Lindsey, treasurer; and Ada Jackson, chaplain—created an enjoyable year for the club members

Delegates, who were chosen by the group to attend the pre-legislature convention at Tulsa University in late October, were eligible to attend Youth and Government in Oklahoma Ctiy during January

The greatest thrill for the whole group during the year was the trip to Blackwell, Ok. homa, in April for their annual state convention

Y-Teens Help High School Girls Plan for Future

In planning for the future the Y-Teens had a full year. Programs were presented to the girls in social and vocational fields to help them make decisions for later life

Vocational school proved to be a great help. Various occupations were presented by such people as airline hostesses, teachers, and college students. Representatives gave requirements for training to the girls and then had open discussions.

Every year Y-Teen representatives attend a work shop at Camp Parthenta to plan programs and to stimulate participation by the members

Throughout the year skating parties were held Camp Parthenia became a favorite spot for slumber parties. Keeping in season, a Halloween dance was held in October, a Valentine one on February 14, and the annual spring semi-formal at the Y in March.

Presiding over meetings was Maydel Whelchel, president. Serving with her were Caryl Smith, vice-president; Patsy Bradley, treasurer; and Jackie Sheetz, secretary. Miss Jeanne Aston sponsored the Central club.

The Lettermen's Club was one of the proudest groups of boys at Central because each member wore the school "T" for excellent performance in a sports activity. Boys at Central had the opportunity to letter in football, basketball, wrestling, cross country, track, swimming, tennis, and golf.

The club endeavored to promote good sportsmanship and increased interest in athletics. It gave its members the chance to hear leading authorities on sports explain the need of such activities in the life of a student. During the past year Coach William C. Lantz of Central and Lt. Robert Shuck of the Air National Guard were two of the speakers.

Under the guidance of their sponsors, Mr. Emmett Nolan and Mr. Kenneth Bayes, the members met on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month. Jim Self, the president, was assisted by—John Shackleford, vice-president; Bill Knowles, secretary; and Dawyne Pollard, treasurer. The boys held a spring preme paid for with money from shewing football movies.

They combined fun and work in shooting to earn the awards given by the National Rifle Association. Under the expert eyes of their new sponsor, Mr. Robert Jankovitz, and their president, John Mansur, the Rifle Club members competed in the Army Qualification Course for small bore. This program was open for senior boys, and the members who had the highest shooting average was presented with a handsome medal. On various days during the year the club held turkey shoots and ham shoots to encourage the boys to make better averages.

Other officers in the club included Jim Martin, vice-president; Richard Porterfield, secretary; Lewis Houser, range officer; Terry Brentlinger, assistant range officer; and Hal Williams, pistol instructor. At the end of the year after the awards had been given to the various members, a party for the officers and sponsors was held at a local restaurant.

Ticket Sales Keep Advertising Board Members Busy

During the year a very important group of people gave their services to the school as members of the Advertising Board. The officers—Bob Thompson, president; Judy Stenger, vice-president; and Margaret Schiff, secretary-treasurer—were aided in directing the activities of the club by the sponsor, Mrs. Lorna Stenger. The ticket committee of the board took charge of the campaigns and ticket sales for the two speech arts plays and the operetta. The members of this committee were on duty every morning for many weeks to help make these productions successful.

Another job of the Advertising Board was the maintenance of the multi-colored electric sign in the north hall. Announcements of general interest to students were posted on the sign where all could read them.

Meetings were called by Mrs. Stenger about once a month in room 329A at 8:15 on Monday mornings. At these meetings the campaigns and the activities of the club were discussed. The twelve members of the board were chosen from students who applied in the fall to Mrs. Stenger.

Key Club Gives Service to School and Community

Striving to supply service for the school and the community was the motto of the Key Club. Sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, the group accomplished many fund raising and service events. Since its birth in 1951 at Central the members of the club have made it an essential organization in the school.

The group met every Tuesday evening at 7:15 in room 226. Officers were Bob Reis, president; Tom Buxter, vice-president; Joe Mills, secretary; and Bill Burton, treasurer. Mr. Glen Flora and Mr. Marion McQuigg were faculty supervisors.

The club participated in many worthwhile projects Furnishing ticket takers for all auditorium events, marching in the annual Christmas Parade, collecting funds for the needy families and muscular dystrophy, purchasing six prints of paintings to be displayed in Central's halls, and serving as guides for business men on Educational-Business Day were few of the events in which the boys took part.

Under the guidance of the sponsor, Miss Robbie Wright, and the officers—Betty McIntosh, president; Arva Faucett, vice-president; Norma Davidson, secretary; and Carol Forrest, treasurer—the members of the Girls' Recreation Association all agree that this year was indeed a successful one.

G.R.A.'s program offered team competition in field hockey, basketball, volleyball, and softball. There was individual competition in archery and tennis. The girls presented the annual water ballet.

Having earned a specified number of points through participation in various sports events, members were awarded medals, letters, and chevrons. The girls also worked throughout the year in the hope of being selected to attend the G.R.A. camp at Camp Cimarron. Talented Water Ballet Members Swim for Central

Water Ballet, a relatively new organization at Central, recruited many members last September. The first few months were spent in teaching the fundamental strokes and stunts to the beginners. Meeting for practice every Thursday after school in the girls' gym, the members swam in the girls' pool

Since its beginning the ballet group has presented a water show to entertain the students and faculty of Central. This year the theme of the show was "Movies." There were two performances on April 4 and 6. The members worked diligently under the leadership of Sandy Trigg, president; Maxine McCrary, vice-president; and Patty Franklin, secretary treasurer. Miss Robbie Wright directed the group

Aside from working, the water ballet members have fun also. In May a picnic was held at the home of one of the members. Twenty-three girls belonged to this organization. The club represented part of the Girls' Recreation Association, which includes many various sports activities.

Advanced Physical Science, one of the newer organizations at Central, was under the sponsorship of Mr George Hall. Future scientists and engineers made up the majority of class

This organization met daily during fifth hour. A better understanding of science and engineering was the goal of each and every member. An above average grade status in all classes, chemistry, physics, trigonometry, and second year algebra are the pre-requisites for membership.

Several lectures were given by prominent speakers in various scientific fields. Jay Beaman and Betty Culp were co-chairmen of the lecture committee. Films and field trips also added to the interest and enjoyment of the class. Pat Tatum was in charge of the film committee which secured numerous educational films to further their knowledge of science. Neal Williams, head of the field trip committee, helped to plan trips to the DX-Sunray Refinery, the Carter and the Stanolind Oil Companies.

Mike Gilmartin completed a project on arithmetic progressions which won a Westinghouse Science Talent Search award.

Knowledge of World Affairs Develops Understanding

International Club, sponsored by Mrs. Velma Reves, strove to gain in understanding by learning about the world of today. The members, students from all the classes, heard many interesting speakers. Students, teachers, and professional men and women who had visited foreign countries spoke to the club about their trips and their observations of life in other lands. For one meeting a panel of members gave talks on the United Nations, what it is and what it does. At other times the group discussed current international affairs.

Besides the regular meetings, which were held every other Tuesday in room 315 after school, the club had a dinner and a picnic. As a special project, the organization sent contributions to CARE for Hungarian relief. In order to learn more about cus toms and schools in other countries, many members corresponded with foreign students.

The club was headed by Eloise Charles. Other of ficers were Sharon Bunnell, vice-president; Norman Stinson, secretary, Lee Feuron, treasurer, and Pat Tatum, parliamentarian.

Speakers' B treat, an organization for juntors and seniors, helped its members develop their abilities for public speaking. In advertising the two speech arts plays, the members made talks at many civic clubs in Tulsa. Hearing oral reports and giving them in meetings also aided the students to overcome difficulties in speaking

At the meetings, which were held every two weeks on Monday and Tuesday mornings in room 222, extemporaneous and impromptu speeches, debates, panel discussions, and skits were planned and directed by the members. Programs on television were on the list of Speakers' Bureau accomplishments. Also a part of the club's activities were the Christmas party, a progressive dinner, and a dinner dance.

Members of Thespians Enhance Dramatic Talent

"Act well your part; therein all honor lies." These words are the motto of the National Thespian Society, comprised of students interested in the theater. This group had twenty-three members, who were selected because of their interest and participation in dramatic productions at Central

Danny Conner was president of the organization Other members of the cabinet included James Walker, vice-president; Linda Darrell, secretary; Maxine Kluck, treasurer; and Virginia Maddox, scribe

Thespians met in room 216 every other Monday and Tuesday before homeroom under the sponsorship of Mrs. Iona Ballew Freeman. During these meetings they studied and practiced the phases of dramatics.

Danny Conner was awarded the honor of the Best Thespian for the first semester.

At Christmastime former Thespians were honored at an open house in the home of Flovanne Griffin. The major event of the year was the Regional Thespian Conference, May 4, at which Central's Chapter 817 served as host to the other units in Oklahoma.

Stagecraft Brings Fame to Central Productions

Ronnie Sturgeon, Tom Aude, and Murray Engle learn to operate lights, backdrops, acenery, and properties in their stagecraft class

Central is well-known for her successful productions. These would not be made possible without the capable ability of the members of the stagecraft organization. For forty years this hard-working group has set up scenery, built sets, and operated the sound and lighting equipment. Mr. Albert Martin has sponsored the organization since 1929.

Meetings were held every Monday afternoon in the South Auditorium. Tommy Aude presided over the club, assisted by Linda Darrell, secretary. The proper ty manager was Pat Ratliff; Bob Goddard was in charge of scenery; and Murray Engle took care of the lighting

Members spent many hours before, after, and during school to prepare the stage for the plays, the opera, the Daze, the assemblies, and other events

A new special effect was added to their large variety of notable accomplishments. During the senior class play water from an apparatus fell to look like rain

Projectionists Operate Visual Education Machines

Through the visual education department of the Tulsa public schools many aids to the educational process are available. To make possible the showing of this material was the purpose of the Projection Club.

To become a member, a student had to apply to Mr. Albert Martin, stage director and sponsor of the club. After being chosen, the boys learned how to operate the projectors used for showing visual education material. They were also taught how to take one of the fragile film and how to repair it in case of line, kage. When they ran a projector, they were responsible for all the equipment.

The club had a schedule telling the time and the place movies were to be shown. Some boy was available to run a projector any period during the day. Each member was on duty for approximately one hour each day. "It's almost like a study hall," said Pat Devlin; "only we earn half a credit a semester."

Officers of the club were Eddie Wilson, president; P.t De lin, vice president, and John Chrk, seretary.

Society Acquires Information About Tulsa History

During their study of local Oklahoma history Claude Easley, Sue Sellors, and Philip Whitney locate Tulsa on the globe of the world

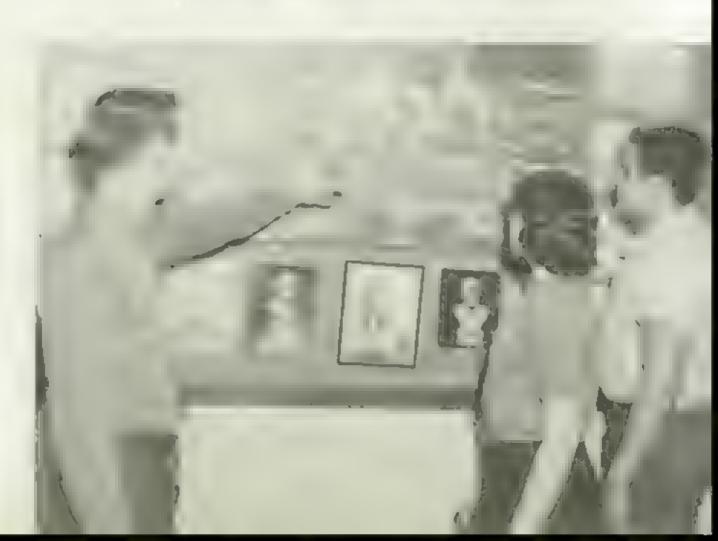

If a person wanted to know the time Tulsa was born, the place the first oil well was drilled, or the location of the first post office, the group to ask was the Tulsa Historical Society. Giving accurately prepared information for the use in city anniversary observances, drawing the public's attention for the need of correct identification of Tulsa's historic sites, and collecting appropriate materials for historical museums were the purposes of the club.

Students regularly enrolled in one of five classes of community history formed the Tulsa Historical Society. Each class elected its own officers, and the entire group chose a cabinet. The officers of the group were Larry Chandler, president; Johnny Clarke, vice-president; Don Chapman, senator. The sponsor, Mrs. Edith Daugherty, who is the community history teacher, directed the officers in planning a busy year.

Holding their regular meetings during daily class periods, students learned through reading and discussions valuable information concerning Tulsa history. Projects, surveys, field trips, and research added to their knowledge.

On January 18 the annual joint meeting of the groups was held. To commemorate the first chapter, which was organized in 1908, the organization had a picnic which several former active members attended on May 8. The final activity of the Tulsa Historical Society was the presentation in general assembly of a pageant based on Oklahoma history.

Showing the location of Central High School on an aerial view map of Tulsa, Don Chapman, senator, points out to Judy Gower, secretary-treasurer, and Larry Chandler, president, that on such a map the school seems small, although in reality it covers an entire city block

Judy Dye Martha Hurt and Maxine McCrary inspect the cover of the 1957 Tom Tom which illustrates the theme, "50 Years of Oklahoma."

On the first day of school the 1957 Tom Tom staff started creating a yearbook. Pictures had to be scheduled and taken; cutlines had to be written; deadlines had to be met; a million things to do fell on the shoulders of the busy art staff under the direction of Mr. Bob K. Bartholic and the editorial staff supervised by Miss Ruth Holton.

In October five members of the editorial group attended the Interscholastic Press Association meeting at the University of Oklahoma in Norman. At this conference the 1956 Tom Tom won the award "With Highest Honors."

Eighteen seniors comprised the first semester edutorial staff. Only ten remained second semester to complete the book—Martha Hurt, editor; Maxim McCrary, assistant editor; Judy Dye, business man ager; Bob Boyle and Charles Slater, photographers; Jennifer Curtis, Linda Elstner, Jane Rader, Judy Stenger, and Leah Vogel.

Busy Members of School Life Turn Out Newspapers

Under the expert eyes of their sponsor, Miss Anna Crotchett, the School Lite staff at Central delivered a weekly newspaper to the five Tulsa high schools

If a person wandered into the journalism office, room 120A, any morning during the week, he found some of the 13 staff members bent over their type-writers or eagerly proof-reading galleys of copy. Others might have been covering newsbeats, which are routine checks with teachers who may have some interesting news for the paper. Whether they were covering a football game, a class play, or an event in a classroom, the three words always in the minds of the reporters were efficiency, accuracy, and promptness.

Out of the 24 editions that were published this year, the two which were remembered the longest by the staff were the Daze edition and the special senior edition which appeared in May.

The editors of School Life included Judy Brownfield, editor in-chief; Sonny Kaufman, feature editor Jack Dunham, sports editor, and Judy Sharp, equiveditor.

People who were interested in retailing, wholesales advertising, and selling found it worthwhile spending some time with the Distributors' Club, sponsored by Mrs. Loucillah Kirkpatrick. The members of the group heard such speakers as Mr. Harry Clark, Jr., a personnel director, and took field trips to the four largest department stores in Tulsa and to the Magic Empire Market.

In November 65 members were initiated into the club at a banquet at the Alvin Hotel. The organization also published a newspaper called the $D.E \cap \mathbb{N}$. The editor was Donna Smith; and the junior co-

Trade and Industrial Club Prepares for Business

Blue and white jackets hold a significant meaning at Central. These jackets with the cogwheel emblem on them belong to the members of the Trade and Industrial Club.

Thirty-three students, representing twelve trades, made up the club. An arrangement of schedule made it possible for the boys to attend classes one half day to fulfill academic requirements and to work the other half day. This combination of school and job gave the members enough credits to graduate as well as experience in the business world.

The school year started with a bang for the D.E. when the annual initiation party was held in September at the home of Mr. Richard Kisner, sponsor. Again in October the boys and their dates enjoyed an evening at Mr. Kisner's having a weiner roast and playing games.

Participation in the state organization aroused new interest in the group. The officers—James Houston, president; Stephen Harkey, vice-president; and Burl Denney, so retary-treasurer helped to good the count to a successful year.

Council President Attends International Meeting

Richard Roberts, president of the Red Cross Council, went with a group of 32 other American students last summer to attend the American Junior Red Cross Leadership Training Center in Chiemsee, Germany As a result of Richard's enthusiasm gained from the experience, the Central council has intensified its aim of service to others.

To carry out this purpose the group donated articles obtained from the Penworthy drive to the Veterans' Hospital in Muskogee and to the Children's Medical Center. Some of the members at Hallow entertained at the hospital. They sent gift boxes overseas, held weekly scrap paper drives, gave $25 to the Hungarian relief program, and sent two subscriptions of 15 magazines to the Veterans' Husp. Several girls worked as nurses' aides at Hillcrest Hospital.

Another event, held annually, was the windshield wiping campaign to publicize the blood center program.

The Red Cross Council met every other Welmes are morning under the faculty guidance of Mrs. Susie Sunderland. Besides Richard, other officers were Anita Randell, vice-president; Carol Grever, secretary David Mayes, treasurer; and Judy Houston, historian.

Future Homemakers Concentrate on Good Family Life

Betty Broam Mrs Cathern Hanks Carol Chesser and Sandra Shoemaker enjoy a get acquainted party for new members of Future Homemakers.

Girls in Future Homemakers of America learned about family fun, baby sitting, good grooming, and home economics as a career.

Installation of officers gave members a chance to honor their parents with a tea. Other social events consisted of numerous parties, including the cele bration of Christmas and Valentine's Day. A spring party in honor of the outgoing senior members also highlighted the year's activities. Students were again in for a treat when Aina Fridrichson, student of Central from Latvia, gave a talk on family life in foreign lands.

The Future Homemakers of America elected Carol Moss to preside over their organization. She was assisted by Sandra Shoemaker, vice-president; Maydel Whelchel, secretary; Betty Broam, treasurer; Lorena Bounds, parliamentarian; Florence Hayhurst, historian; and Eula Mae Morris, song leader. Under the leadership of Mrs Cathern Hanks and Mrs Jesse Diffee, sponsors, the girls held meetings on Endays at 3:45 twice a month in room 423.

Students Discover Values In Teaching Profession

"Hurry up or we will be late to the meeting! You can go to your locker later." This familiar cry echoes throughout the halls by members who are rushing to a meeting of the George Pearson Future Teachers of America Club. Assembling every alternate Tuesday in room 208, members are held together by the common interest of learning more about the teaching profession.

The officers—Peggy Creech, president; Sondra Wattenbarger, vice-president; Susan Robinson, sector, v. Donald Oliver, treasurer; Virginia Flanery, corresponding secretary; and Harold Sorrells, parliamentarian—received valuable help from the sponsor, Mr. Paul McCloud, in planning a fruitful and busy year for the club.

Last fall the group attended the state teachers' convention at Oklahoma City. T.U. Day on March 1 held tea experiences for the future teachers. FT A.'ers went to the annual F.T.A. convention, which was held at Oklahoma College for Women in Chickasha.

Girls' Choruses Strive To Enrich Tone Qualities

Mary Eckel, Margaret Bergdorf, Sharon Foster and Joyce Singleton plan a trip to Stillwater, Oklahoma, for the state music festival.

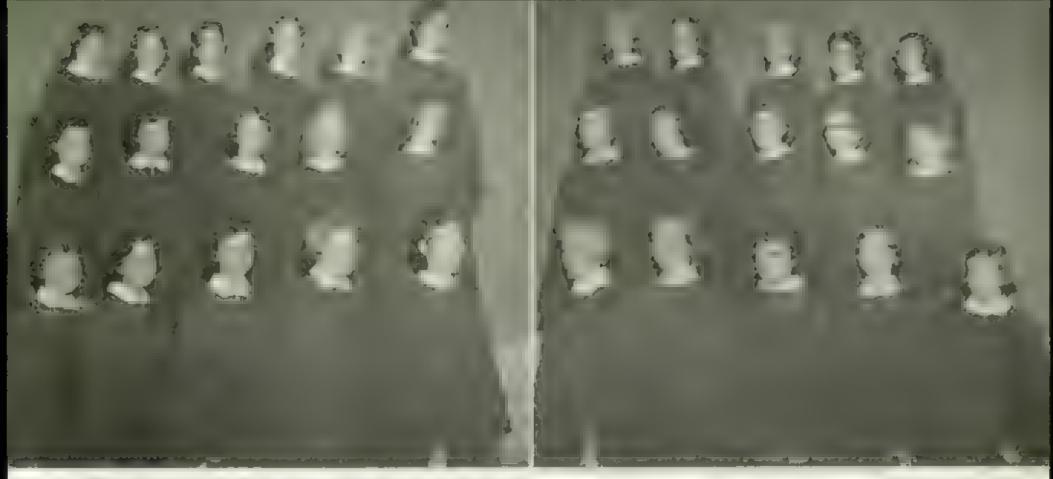

The two girls' choruses at Central under the direction of Mr. Rex Teague met during fourth and fifth hours. Each class was made up of about thirty girls who obtained membership by audition with the vocal music instructor

Both classes concentrated on learning vowel for mations and general vocal technique. Fundamental aspects of theory were included as they strived to extend their ranges and enrich tone qualities. Each girl was required to participate in one or more smaller vocal groups to further her knowledge in music. To help these smaller groups, Mr. Teague gave training in proper balance and blend.

Assemblies were an important part of their year. They worked hard in preparing to sing The Nativity with other vocal groups in the Christmas assembly and to present a special number for a sophomore variety assembly. They gave several programs at the local junior high schools which send ninth graders to Central. In April the classes combined for the spring festival.

Beginning Choral Groups Train for Advanced Work

In November Mr. Teague and the fourth hour chorus went to Stillwater by bus. They participated with other choruses in the state in a festival. The girls rehearsed in the morning and afternoon. Then they presented a program that evening in the field house at Oklahoma A&M.

Social events were a welcome part of the class curriculum this year. The classes held separate parties and picnics. Then in the spring the two combined to hold a skating party.

Officers were elected for each class. Officiating at meeting and during class discussions in the fourth hour were Joyce Bruce, president; Margaret Berg dorf, vice-president; Sharon Foster, secretary; and Joyce Singleton, treasurer. The fifth hour officers were Beth Conrad, president; Carolyn Rhodes, vice-president; and DeeArlene McDaniel, secretary-treasurer.

The purpose of the girls' choruses was to prepare the members for the two advanced chord groups at Central, the Opera Club and the A Cappella Choir Many who have benefited by their year will be members of the advanced groups next year

Opera Club Produces Herbert's 'Babes in Toyland'

Dale Lewis and Susie Watson watch from one side of the stage as Danny Conner and Joyce Schlichting sing an operetta duet romantically

The operetta, Babes in Toyland by Victor Herbert, was the major production given by the Opera Club. The exceptionally well-chosen cast included Danny Conner, Marcia Hyman, Dale Lewis, Joyce Schlichting, Susan Watson, and James Webb playing the lead parts. The beautiful setting and the tuneful music made the operetta a delight to the eye and the car.

At Thanksgiving and again at Christmas time the Opera Club members were heard on the radio as they gave a musical broadcast to the listening audience. Also at Christmas they played an important part in the presentation of Handel's The Messiah given by all Tulsa high schools at Edison High School.

The group presented other music throughout the year, including a program at the Rotary Club, an exchange assembly with Booker T. Much Practice Needed To Perform Orchestral Music

Lynn Harris Leah Vogel and Jon Kepler look over the musical score of Procession of the Grail from Parsital by Richard Wagner

The Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Don Linde, continued to be one of Central's busiest organizations. The cabinet — Leah Vogel, president; Lynn Harris, vice-president; and Jon Kepler, secretary and treasurer—was elected during the second week of school by the fifty-six members of the organization. Ruth Mary Johnson, senior; Jan Fleming, junior; and Carlene Hotz, sophomore; served their respective classes as counselors appointed by members of the cabinet

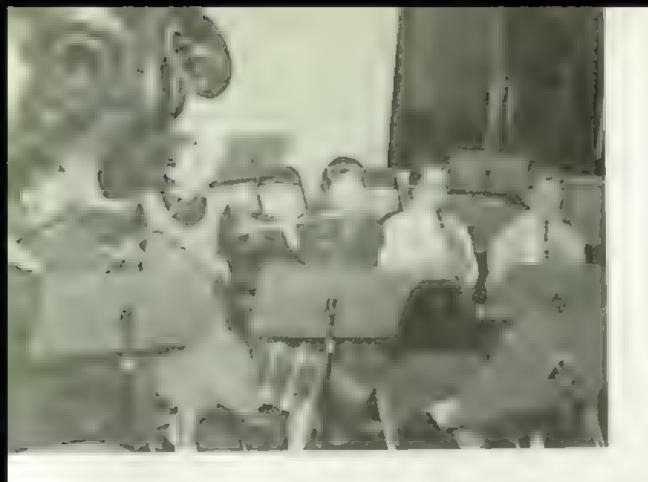

Although the Orchestra rehearsed in room 237 during fourth period, they spent many hours before and after school practicing for concerts and various programs. Among these were The Lute Song, Pygmalion, Babes in Toyland, Roomful of Roses, and the Daze.

Cross Country Runners Earn Top Honors at Opener

Cross country team started the year off right by taking top honors at the Oklahoma Baptist University meet with 26 points. Tom Sellers and Bill Dissly, returning lettermen, tied for first place. Earnest Frye took sixth place, and Steve Mendoza and Jerry Webb won seventh and tenth places.

In cross country events low score wins. On October 24 at the city meet the distance runners for the Braves clipped off top honors again, placing first with 29 points.

Running briskly, James Caldwell, Jim Welch, Bill Dissly Eldon Pittser, and Steve Mendoza warm up for a coming meet

After the city contest the thinclads held second place in the next four meets. The team suffered a loss when letterman Tom Sellers became ill and had to be dropped from the squad.

Under the tutelage of Coach William C Lantz lettermen for the 1956 season were James Caldwell, Bill Dissly, Ernie Frye, Steve Mendoza, Eldon Pittser, Tom Sellers, Jerry Webb, and Jim Welch. All except Dissly and Sellers will return for next year.

Swim Team Captures City and State Championships

The swimming team, coached by Mr. John Payne, emerged city and state champions at the close of the season. Competing in eleven meets, they won nine and lost two, bowing only to Coffeyville, Kansas, twice.

Six records were broken—Hugh Barrett, 40-yard freestyle; Leon Whitehead, 200-yard freestyle; George Cathey, 100-yard freestyle Hal Williams, Sam Bradshaw, Tom Bailey, and Lewis Reynolds in the 200-yard medley relay; George Cathey, Jim Conner, Leon Whitehead, and Hugh Barrett in the 160-yard freestyle relay; and Jerry Bicknell with 196 points in diving.

At the state meet the Central 200-yard medley relay team beat the Junior National AAU record of 1:56.8 by 2.4 seconds. Winning All-American awards were Cathey, Conner, Whitehead, and Barrett. Nominated for All-American was the 200-yard medley relay combination of Bailey, Bradshaw, Reynolds, and Williams. Besides those named Jerry Bicknell and Mike Ives were also state champions.

The lettermen included not only those already listed, but also the following boys: Phil Arnett, Bill Barry, Jon Ferris, Warren Kendall, Mike Loy, Eddie Lusk, and David Mays

Spirited Cagers Cop Regional Basketball Crown

A page from Esquire came to life in vivid colors during the faculty-varsity basketball game last fall. As well-known teachers ran onto the court, peals of laughter greeted them. The fashionable men were dressed in bermuda shorts and socks. The game proved hilarious entertainment for the students packed into the gym.

The regular season opened with two games in Arkansas. The first competition proved too much for the Braves as the Fayetteville quintet took an early lead to down the local boys. The top scorers in the game were Tommy MacKenna with 12 points, Ray Reins with 10 points, and Bobby Blosch with 10 points. The boys in red led all the way as they stomped Springdale in their second Arkansas game. Ray Reins captured the scoring honors with 18 points.

Making use of a stingy defense and a great second half comeback, the Ropers won the annual Will Rogers Invitational Basketball Tournament by defeating the Braves 24-21. The game was hard fought, and the outcome was in doubt until the final few seconds of the game. Leading at halftime 16-14, the tall Red Men gave the Ropers a rough first half.

When the roundballers invaded Okmulgee, they downed the Bulldogs 43-36. Sparking the Braves were Ray Reins and Bobby Blosch with 17 and 10 points, respectively. Relying on the long shots of Tom Eppler, Jimmy Selt. Doy Cole, and Tommy MacKenna, the team went wild, hitting from every place on the court in an all-out rally to defeat the Bulldogs.

Grapplers Match Skill Against Ten Adversaries

The 1956-57 wrestling team under the direction of the head coach, Mr. George Dorsch, and his assistant, Mr. Tommy Joe Hudspeth, won six out of nine matches and fought one team to a tie. To start off the season with a victory, the Braves were triumphant over Edison in an exciting battle in which Dick Walker and Harvey Singer scored pins; and Regan Wright, C. R. Auxier, Jim Henry, Monty Stricker, Mark Kelley, Les Frick, and Bill Knowles won by decision.

The Braves captured a victory at Midwest City when wrestlers Gary Taylor, Dick Walker, Regan Wright, Don Davidson, Jim Henry, Monty Stricker, Mike Little, Les Frick, Bill Knowles, and Harvey Singer won their matches.

At the Bristow Invitational Meet the wrestlers gained second place, and team members captured three championships. Champions were Harvey Singer, Bill Knowles, and Don Davidson. Winning their matches, Walter White, Dick Walker, Regan Wright, Don Davidson, Jim Henry, Monty Stricker, Bill Knowles, and Harvey Singer, led the Braves to a high regional standing.

The annual bout with Webster found the undefeated Braves skilled matmen. Don Davidson and Mike Little scored pins; and Dick Walker, Monty Stricker, Les Frick, and Bill Knowles won by decision.

Dick Walker, Don Davidson, Jim Henry, Monty Stricker, and Bill Knowles drove Central to a victory against Ponca City. The score, 17-16, was proof of a hard battle in which Les Frick tied his opponent.

In their fifth straight victory of the season the Braves defeated Sapulpa by a 30 to 5 m argin. Don Davidson and Bill Knowles showed themselves to be outstanding matmen by pinning their adversaries, while Walter White, Regan Wright, Jim Henry, Mike Little, Les Frick, and Joe Eaton won by decision, and Harvey Singer fought his opponent to a draw.

The Braves met the Rogers Ropers at the Rogers gym; and although Dick Walter, Mike Shearer, Bill Knowles, and Harvey Singer won their matches, the Braves were defeated.

In an exciting contest at Stillwater, the wrestlers tied the match by defeating five opponents, one by a pin. Dick Walker, Mike Shearer, Les Frick, and Bill Knowles won

Golfers Show Skill On Fairways To Win Matches

Supplying an eventful part of the 1956 athletic season was the golf team under the direction of Coach George Dorsch. The Braves displayed their skill on the links and met their competition with determination.

Playing their first match with the Sapulpa Chieftains, they went down to defeat 5½-7½. Then the team members tied with Okmulgee 6½-6½. Bouncing into the win column, the golfers beat Webster 11-2 and Bristow 7-6.

The next week the Bartlesville Wildcats tripped them 6-7, but the score was reversed when the Braves outpointed the Rogers Ropers 7-6.

In quick succession the Big Red defenders won from Webster 12-1 and from Sapulpa 942-342. Then Okmulgee came up with a 212 1042 victory. The spunky Brave golfers won their final matches against Bristow and Bartlesville, both with scores of 7-6.

At the tournaments the sand-diggers placed third in the conference and fifth in the state Returning lettermen for the 1957 squad were Elvill Beck and Henry Gourd.

Henry Courd demonstrates the correct way to hold a club and proper stance which has won many matches for him

Tennis Squad Boasts of Season With Six Victories

Opening the 1956 tennis season, the Central team went into action in a match against Muskogee. Some fine tennis was played, and the Braves came out victorious 4-2.

Winning matches soon became a habit with them. In the second encounter with the Roughers, the local boys won again 8-1. Meeting Rogers in a dual match, the squad was ready for anything; and in fine form they guined the big end of the score 8-1.

Only once did the team members suffer a loss which came when a group from Winfield, Kansas, edged them 4-5. Next on the schedule were sets with Bartlesville, when the Braves eked out a win 5-4.

Then the downtown boys defeated the Ropers from the eastside school 8-1. In another match with Bartlesville, the racket wielders came up with a win 7 4

Coached by Mr. Clarence Ehlers, the letter men-Kent Rogart, John Brice, Bud Hamil ton, Tom Russell, Robert Shaver, and P. K. Williams—displayed brilliant form to the end of the season with six victories.
